Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurTake a journey through the world's most romantic city, traveling from color to magnificent color with this beguiling book. An orange caf chair, bright blue bicycles against a fence, a weathered white doorNichole Robertson's sumptuous photographs of the distinctive details of Paris, all arranged by color, evoke a sense of serendipitous discovery and celebrate the city as never before. At once a work of art and a window into the heart of the city, Paris in Color will surprise and delight those who love art, design, color, and, of course, Paris!Revue de presse'From Nichole Robertson, cofounder of the blog and design studio Little Brown Pen, comes Paris in Color, a book that presents the City of Light in all its enchanting hues. Including more than 150 pages of vivid photographs, this volume showcases Parisian design and architecture, its iconic monuments as well as its moments of quiet, accidental splendor. Robertson's work offers readers a color-coordinated tour of her favorite city, lovingly lingering on such staggering details as its scarlet Metro entrances and Wallis-blue doors.' --Lonny magazine'A feast of color-coordinated vignettes.' LuckyMag.com 'The perfect book to explore the City of Light for anyone who couldn't finish the school day until they had reorganized their crayons into rainbow order.' --Refinery29.com'This is a must-have in your design library as a color reference and for photographic inspiration.' --Design MusePrsentation de l'diteurTake a journey through the world's most romantic city, traveling from color to magnificent color with this beguiling book.
