Description :

Présentation de l'auteur 'What shall we do?' said Twoflower. 'Panic?' said Rincewind hopefully. He always held that panic was the best means of survival. As it moves towards a seemingly inevitable collision with a malevolent red star, the Discworld could do with a hero. What it doesn't need is a singularly inept and cowardly wizard, still recovering from the trauma of falling off the edge of the world, or a well-meaning tourist and his luggage which has a mind (and legs) of its own. Which is a shame because that's all there is... From AudioFile Part of Pratchett's famous and comic Discworld saga and sequel to The Colour of Magic. Planer is confronted by a variety of eccentric characters and with brilliant flair he brings them off well. Great stuff. D.W. (c)AudioFile, Portland, Maine Revue de presse "He is a satirist of enormous talent.. Incredibly funny, compulsively readable" (The Times)"He would be amusing in any form and his spectacular inventiveness makes the Discworld series one of the perennial joys of modern fiction" (Daily Mail)"Pure fantastic delight" (Time Out)"A true original among contemporary writers" (The Times)
